I. W. W. ADVANCE EFFORT TO RULE HARVEST FIELDS

Propagandists Busy in North Dakota, According to Reports From Several Places

QUIT WORK IN ONE FIELD

Fail in Kansas, According to Dispatch, and "Wobblies" Move Northward

The I. W. W. menace to farmers is beginning to assert itself, according to reports from various parts of the state and from other states where the grain harvest is under way.

Literature has been found in some parts of the Slope country, but the activities of the I. W. W. now are mainly confined to the Red River Valley, where the harvest is earlier than in the western part of the state.

Sometimes as I. W. W. pamphlets were found in Dickinson, and a group of men, believed to be propagandists for the "wobblies" were encountered in Bismarck by police officials.

Twelve men employed on the George Fowler farm, near Casselton, in Cass county, quit work on the advice of I. W. W. leaders, according to a news dispatch from that town. They demanded higher wages, and when they were refused, left the bladders standing in the fields. When an effort was made to run them, it was found that a piece of drive chain, a bolt or necessary wheel, had been removed.

Offer Standard Wage
The men had been getting 45 cents an hour, and they demanded $7 a day. Farmers of the western part of Cass county held a meeting and offered a standard wage of 45 cents an hour and board and room for harvesting and threshing. The men have the privilege of working as many hours as they desire.

Appear in Grand Forks
Organizers for the "wobblies" have appeared in Grand Forks. It is said no meetings have been held but copies of "Solidarity" several broadsides, handbills and pamphlets were found in the waiting room of the Great Northern station and in other places about the city.

It was reported that emissaries of the I. W. W. are trying to force a farm labor shortage in the Red River Valley, despite the fact that more men are coming into the district for harvest work than in recent seasons.

Headquarters of the I. W. W. are said to be in Fargo, and emissaries have been sent from Fargo headquarters to the smaller towns and communities in the state. It is said that farm laborers are not to accept work at less than six and seven dollars per day. It also is reported that I. W. W. representatives during the last few days have been taking employment tickets from non-union, government and independent agencies, warning them that "scab" labor will not be tolerated in the fields of the state this year.

Advocate Revolution
In one of the I. W. W. leaflets distributed here is found "The Preamble of the Industrial Workers of the World," in which the following sentences appear:

"Instead of the conservative motto, 'A fair day's work for a fair day's wage,' we must inscribe on our banner the revolutionary watchword, 'Abolition of the wage system!'"

In another leaflet is found an article entitled, "The Ideal," at the top of which a drawing appears showing two men trying to hammer "the ideal" into the head of a laborer.

FAIL IN KANSAS
Kansas City, Aug. 2.—The I. W. W. program to gain control of the Kansas harvest this summer, in which secret communications revealed that more than 100 men were commissioned to "organize" Kansas, is an utter failure.

That information was brought to the office of Fred Robertson, United States district attorney for Kansas, by Frank C. Wernicke, a former I. W. W. who has put his knowledge of the organization and its methods at the service of both the government and state authorities.

Wernicke, who for 30 days has been on special duty for the Kansas state fire marshal, traveling as a tramp over the state, reported "wobblies" were leaving by scores for the Dakota fields, admitting that their propaganda failed in Kansas.

Preparedness Aids to Crush
Preparedness was the chief factor in crushing the I. W. W. drive, Wernicke said. Many of his former associates, he asserted, told him the Kansas anti-syndicalist law and activities of the state fire marshal and his deputies were too much for them. He also said the information against them by Richard J. Hopkins, attorney general, and cooperation of the federal authorities broke what progress the organization had made during the spring months. City, county and state authorities and former service men also aided greatly.

STAGE CAREER IS HER AIM

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Miss Margaret Crosson, one of this season's most attractive debutantes at the capital, has aspirations beyond the round of social activities for a debutante. She has decided to put her dramatic abilities to the test on the stage.

Miss Crosson's first engagement is with a stock company, which she believes furnishes the most thorough preparation for a dramatic career.

40,000 SEE SHUT OUT

Chicago, Aug. 2.—A crowd estimated at 40,000 said by club officials to be the largest which ever witnessed a game in the American League park. Sunday, saw Chicago shut out New York, 3 to 0, in the first game of the series. Wonderful pitching by Eddie Cicotte, backed by perfect support was responsible for the downfall of the Yankees. Not a visitor passed second base and only five hit safely. Jackson went into the crowd in the fourth inning and robbed Ruth of a double. After he caught the ball he toppled over the heads of the fans.

HOW CHINAMEN LOOK ON CUS-TOMS OF THE REST OF THE WORLD

A Chinese is variously observed as an object of curiosity or an object of universal sympathy, because his skin is yellow and he hails from the dark and mystical East, and he is just "nothingness" to others who claim to be neutral. But, among newcomers, the Chinese is an equal; the Chinese is as good as an American, the American as good as the Chinese, and, strange to say, this attitude is quite often honest, writes "J. S. L." in the Far Eastern Republic. Yet, still, there are some who think they understand or know the Chinese and they feel that in him is an antique, grand, and noble culture, with much learning of rare and delicate beauty, very fine, and almost sacred.

These are all most interesting; they are delightful. Do not misunderstand us. We are close observers. We see how you act, hear how you talk, understand how you think, and search your motives. "Terrible!" you say? Well—it is, if you don't act just right; it isn't, if you do. Why? Because you do not yet understand us when you should.

However simple a Chinese may appear to you—and who might not, when placed in an environment and civilization equally as good, perhaps, but wholly different from his own—do not imagine that he does not observe and think, for he does, and he has been doing this for thousands of years. Even though uneducated—and when educated even more so—he must analyze things, and in a way all his own, although probably not scientifically like the westerner's, but yet using a philosophy that counts and means things. It really makes for understanding—on the part of the Chinese, at least.

MILLS INSTITUTE WASH DAY

How Employers in New York Solved Problem Which Has Long Bothered Efficiency Experts.

The weekly washday problem has been solved by managers of mills in and near New York, and no longer do these mills operate with only half of the female employees on Monday.

In solving the problem the managers have added a side line which threatens to become an important and profitable factor in mill life.

The mill laundry is here, and the housewife who works in the mill no longer "lays off" on Monday to do the family wash but instead slips a ticket into the laundry box as she comes to work. Then she forgets all about it and on Tuesday the mill delivery wagon backs up to her door and delivers the week's wash. When she gets her pay envelope she finds only a few cents deducted from her wages. Mill managers for years have been at a loss to determine just how to overcome this Monday shortage of female help. According to a New York mill man, who introduced the mill laundry in his plant, he got the idea from his term of service in the army.

How Popular Terms Are Born

It appears that the expression, "dink coats," for the great array of sartorial workers may now take a place in the dictionaries. This is something of an innovation, for distinctions in terms of dress have more often been applied to manual workers in one form or another. Thus, in France, Germany and elsewhere the blouse has long been the special badge of the "workers" as opposed to the "writers." In the same way a century ago the smock was the special mark of the agricultural laborer in this country, and it might be said that the apron was the badge of the "servicing woman." Such, at least, Boni Nash declared it on the famous occasion when the duchess of Queensberry dared Nashe prohibition by wearing one in the assembly rooms of Bath. Boni, too, have had their part in social distinctions. The "hobnob" was long part and parcel of the laborer, while in the eighteenth century "top boots" generally carried with them the idea of the country squire—the old story.—Manchester Guardian.

How Turks Regard Birds

The Turk defies the bird world. In life he will not kill a bird unless in self-defense, and only then when his wives are in danger. In death he provides for the needs of the bird. Among the amiable qualities of his contradictory nature, at once cruel and kind, the Turk has a wonderfully loving feeling for birds, and it is a charming Turkish custom to have hollows carved at the tops of costly tombstones, from which the birds of the waterless country can drink rain water.

NEW REVOLT LOOMS

Outbreak of Junker Army in Pomerania Feared.

Kapp Supporters Scattered Among Big Estates Obviously as Farm Laborers.

Stettin.—Everyone in this section of Pomerania will tell you something is going to happen, but they do not know what.

Former Minister of War Reinhardt, who is trying to find the answer and to devise a bid for threatening outbreaks, feels the same way, but apparently he is satisfied there is no immediate danger. Under his direction the headquarters of two junker outfits have been raised and closed, and the militarized police force has been strengthened. There are no outward signs, except that general unrest indicates a tensely in the situation.

Everybody is sleeping on his arms, one eye open. No confidence is felt in the Reichswehr, which still retains most of the officers who supported the Kapp forces, and these still have their arms and are scattered among the big estates, obviously as farm handovers, but in reality more like small bands of marauders as bodyguards for the junker barons.

The opposing forces are the actual workmen. On the estates there normally are two organizations, but in reality only the first hint of a realist camp when they will be under one leadership ready for battle.

GOLDEN VALLEY LAND SOLD FOR $70 PER ACRE

Beach, N. D., Aug. 2.—One of the largest real estate transactions to take place for some time was completed last week whereby Hugh Egan, of Fargo, becomes the owner of the large farm of A. P. Kukowski one mile southeast of Beach.

The tract contains 1150 acres, practically all of which is tillable and was sold for $70.00 per acre, a total of $80,500.

Several years ago when good crops were being harvested in the valley a quarter section just south of the cemetery sold for $60.00 per acre, $10 an acre less than the same land sold for last week.

In the transfer Mr. Kukowski gets 500 acres of Red River Valley Land in the vicinity of Fargo for which he pays $150.00 an acre.

CANADIAN FARM EXPERT VISITS CITY ON SURVEY

J. B. Harrington, of the University of Saskatchewan, was in the city this morning gathering information in regard to the crops in this section. He was especially interested in corn and potato crops.

Mr. Harrington says that the province of Saskatchewan has been making strenuous efforts to grow corn and has succeeded to a large extent in growing the final varieties. He also reports that Kabanaka, what has proven most successful in his province.

Mr. Harrington conferred with George Will of Oscar H. Will Seed house, the state department of agriculture, and the county agricultural agent. He is making an extended tour of North Dakota and will stop at the state experimental school and farm before returning to Canada.

With the Movies

The path of a motion picture actor is not always a rosy one as Buck Jones, the sensation of the screen whom William Fox is presenting this week at the Bismarck theatre, will testify. Buck, whose reputation for daring horseman-ship is well known to the people of two continents, doesn't mind injuries received in the making of pictures, yet he is only human.

For nearly a month the intrepid Buck was laid up with a badly damaged foot as a result of an accident received the day he started work on "Forbidden Trails," which Scott Dunlap was directing. Buck had to do a hard ride in the first scene. The scene was being "shot" on a country road near Los Angeles, and Buck was riding his horse at the rate of thirty miles an hour when the accident occurred.

The horse came to a curve in the road and, it being impossible to make the sharp turn, ran off onto the grass, one of his forefeet striking in a gopher hole. The animal fell to his knees, stuck his nose in the grass, toppled over and turned a complete somersault. Having learned many tricks of riding while a member of the Sixth United States Cavalry and also while a cow-puncher, Buck knew how to handle himself. He fell with the horse, but one foot was trampled on as the animal strove to arise.

An examination by a physician disclosed that there was danger of infection so work was suspended. A few days later the infection set in and Buck was forced to remain idle until all danger of general blood poisoning was past.

According to those who have already seen "Forbidden Trails" the star eclipses in every detail his brilliant work in his first Fox production, "The Last Straw."

AMERICANS CROWDING PARIS

Many of the Thousands of Tourists Have Hard Time Finding Rooms.

Paris.—Great difficulties are being encountered by Paris hotels in providing accommodations for the thousands of American tourists who are flocking to this city.

Many hostels have their rooms booked up until late in July or early in August, and many Americans who have failed to make arrangements for accommodations arrived to find all hotels, large and small, crowded. A woman entered the office of a steamship company recently and reported she had visited 21 hotels without being able to find a room.

Another factor that is expected to restrict European travel this summer is the lack of shipping facilities. There are from forty to forty-five ships now in service between American and French ports, and those at the outside can carry from 12,000 to 13,000 persons to Europe each month.

QUEER REPTILE KILLS FISH

Indiana Town Stirred by Reports of Depredations of Mysterious Water Creature.

Marion, Ind.—A reptile or animal of some strange species has taken up its abode in the waters of the Manzanita Fishing club pond in southern Fairmount, and is causing havoc among fish put there by the club several years ago, according to persons living in the vicinity of the pond.

Those who claim to have seen it say the creature has the head of a horse and the body of an alligator. Some of the people living near the pond even state they are disturbed by unearthly noises coming from the pond at times. Members of the club are said to take little stock in these reports, but, inasmuch as an animal of some sort is destroying the fish, state they will make a determined effort to solve the mystery.

None Dies in This Town

Cranmore, Cal.—This town asserts itself as the healthiest community in the state, basing its claim upon the fact that the local cemetery has not had a grave dug since 1863, the date of the last funeral in Cranmore. Since that time several residents of the community have died in other sections of the state, but it is a remarkable fact that not a single death has occurred in the community since 1863.

WEEKLY LIVESTOCK REVIEW

St. Paul Union Stockyard, South St. Paul, Aug. 2.—The hog market is closing about 25 cents lower for the week. The top is 15 cents with bulk at $14.35 to $14.50. Stock pigs continue in good demand and are bringing from $8 to $14.00. Hogs are bringing $5 to $7.50. Receipts at about 24,000 are the lightest in a long while.

Prices were sharply lower in the cattle market the first of the week, with a continued easier trend during the latter part of the week, with sales closing at the lowest point, good best material, practically all of the offerings being of the gray type. Killers show a 50 to 75 cents loss for the week and some kinds even lower. The best fat steers brought $12.25 to $14.25 and the cow and heifer trade was largely in the $6 to $8 spread, these figures bringing a better class of cattle than last week. Cannons and cutters ranged down to $3.50 to $4.00 and occasional lower. Bull trade showed a little more strength this week with sales at $5.00 and $7. Veal calves were also up a little for the week, with top at $12.50 and other sales at $5.50 to $14.00. Receipts for the week were 18,000.

Lambs showed a loss of about 50 cents for the week with sheep grades remaining steady. Ewes are bringing $2.50 to $7; wethers $4 to $8 and yearlings $9 to $11. The quality of material was only fair in all classes. Run of 21,000 was considerably higher than has been received in some time.

LEAGUE EDITOR ISN'T ON DECK FOR THE TRIAL

Accuses Four Men of Assault and Battery but Departs for an Extended Trip

Williston, N. D., Aug. 2.—G. J. Knapp, editor of the Farmers Press of Williston, charged four men with assault and battery, but when the case was called here yesterday neither Knapp or any of his witnesses appeared at the trial.

The attorney for the defendants requested that Knapp be found, and the sheriff searched for him, but he had left the city.

Knapp commented editorially upon the American Legion's rules regarding respect due the American flag.

On Monday night Knapp was visited by members of the Legion who asked that he retract his statements. He retracted them and there was no riot.

Among other things which Knapp printed was his "rule" of conduct: "They need not remove their hats nor stand when the anthem is played."

Knapp left the city with his family after swearing out the warrants for the arrest of the four young men. Three of the arrested were married men and laborers, belonging to the union and standing high in the community. One of them was a law student of the University of Minnesota and an ex-instructor in the air service.

Many farmers and union men are indignant over the press report sent out by Knapp and his failure to back them up. Knapp charged that he was mobbed, in the reports sent out by him.

SECLUDED COOK STORES $7,000 AWAY IN SOCKS

Jam Jars and Mattresses Hold Rest of Earnings; Relatives Hard to Find

SELDOM VENTURED OUT

New York, Aug. 2.—For years Johann, last name a mystery, had led a secluded life as cook for D. W. E. Caldwell, 58 West Fifty-fifth street. The home was her refuge and once a year only did she fare forth—and that was for a new hat. As far as the doctor could observe the one time she wore a hat was when she traveled forth to purchase new headgear.

In the years passed until a week ago, when Johann became critically ill. Dr. Caldwell did his utmost for her. But she grew steadily worse and the doctor, who did not even know her last name, asked her if she possessed any relatives. With vehemence Johann declared that she was all alone in the world.

But, complained the perplexed doctor, "you are extremely ill and if you have any living relatives they should be notified."

Johann turned her face to the wall, but after long questioning gave the name of a "sister" and explained where she could be found. After her death Dr. Caldwell went in search of this relative only to discover that the name and address were fictitious.

Cash in Many Hiding Places

Nothing remained but to go through Johann's belongings. No clues as to relatives could be discovered, but in socks and hidden in jam jars and thrust in the mattresses and carefully covered in pots and pans and kettles and placed under carpets was money—much of it. An accounting by the doctor brought the sum to approximately $7,000.

The need of heirs became evident. Dr. Caldwell remembered that at one time Johann had been friendly with a former maid. The doctor discovered this maid and after her memory had been jogged a bit she remembered that Johann had taken her once to a house on thirty-fourth street but insisted on the maid's remaining without.

Dr. Caldwell went to this house and there discovered the relatives of Johann. They were all over the premises. Among them was discovered a sister. These relatives, all chattering volubly, were herded into Dr. Caldwell's office.

Relatives Dash for Money

Bringing forth the jam jars, socks, kettles and pans, Dr. Caldwell began to count out the modest fortune left by the late Johann. The sight of the money was too much for the bewildered relatives, who made a dash for the table where the transaction was taking place and sought to get their share of money. It was with difficulty that Dr. Caldwell restrained them. After the money was counted out it was turned over to Johann's sister, who divided it among the crowd.

PROROSE LOANS TO AID BUYING RAIL EQUIPMENT

Corporation is Organized by Associated Railway Companies

SET RATE AT 6 PERCENT

New York, Aug. 2.—Organization of the national railway service corporation to provide funds for railroads to purchase new equipment eventually will tend to lower railway rates and relieve the car shortage, according to a statement by S. Davies Wardfield, of Baltimore, president of the National Association of Owners of Railroad Securities.

The corporation was organized by Wardfield under provisions of a transportation act and papers of incorporation were filed yesterday in Baltimore.

An issue of $30,000,000 in equipment notes, maturing in 15 years, will be made soon, the statement said. Carriers which will participate in the issue are the Baltimore and Ohio railway for $14,000,000; the Rock Island and the Minneapolis and St. Louis Railways $11,000,000; the Bangor and Aroostock $150,000.

The corporation will issue its obligations under two plans, the first permitting railroads to purchase equipment outright through the corporation and as equipment matures in 15 years, when the equipment becomes the property of the carrier. The second plan provides, leasing equipment to railroads under a semi-annual payment plan, permitting the roads to own the property by a nominal payment at the end of 15 years.

Approximately 40 per cent of the $30,000,000 issue will be loaned to the corporation by the government at six per cent, either direct or through the carriers, the statement said. The balance will be loaned by investing institutions at seven per cent.

THREE U. S. MAIL PLANES ON TRIP ACROSS COUNTRY

First Transcontinental Aerial Trip for the Post Office Department

MAIL TIME CUT IN TWO

New York, August 2.—Three all-metal monoplanes, carrying the first transcontinental aerial mail, left the flying field at Central park, Long Island, at 10:08 o'clock today for San Francisco.

Eleven airplanes escorted the transcontinental machines in a farewell flight over New York before the jump westward on the pathfinding trip to establish an aerial route between here and the Pacific coast.

The monoplanes carried letters from the mayor of New York to the mayors of San Francisco and other cities along the route which will follow in general that of the transcontinental flight of army planes last summer.

Cleveland First Stop

Cleveland is the first scheduled stop. Other stops will be made at Chicago, Omaha, Cheyenne, Salt Lake City, Reno and San Francisco.

The trip not only is expected to make possible the establishment in September of regular aerial mail service from coast to coast, but to yield information of value to the war department.

Time Cut in Half

Regarding this proposed extension to the Pacific coast of the air mail route, which now ends at Omaha, Maj. B. L. Lent, general superintendent of the air mail service, said:

"The through service, which will be started in September, will cut in half the present five-day letter to San Francisco. At the start, the New York-Omaha end of the run will be covered by all-metal planes and the western half by biplanes. As soon as we are able we plan to put the all-metal monoplanes on the entire run from coast to coast."

WINTER SUPPLY AND COAL PRICE TO BE SUBJECT

Government to Consider Measures of Eliminating Expected Fuel Shortage

Washington, August 2.—Means of averting winter coal shortages and of defeating profiteering in the coal trade will be discussed at a conference in New York on Monday by representatives of four government departments and a committee from the coal industry. Acting Attorney General Ames, in announcing the conference, said the government hoped to develop a program on which the coal interests could come "half way" in solving the coal problem.

Government Watching

Mr. Ames, who with Attorney General Palmer will direct the formation of the plan, declared that there was no reason for a scarcity of fuel at the present time, and that if a shortage existed it was thru faulty distribution. He added that there were "no economic reasons" for the high coal prices which obtain throughout the country. This practical phase of the situation, he said, is being given close study, both by the department of justice and by many representatives of the coal industry who feel that present conditions should undergo a change.

Although the question of an embargo on export coal will be discussed at the coming conference, Mr. Ames said it appeared that the embargo could be discarded as an effective means of increasing the supply available for domestic use. Less than ten million tons of coal have been exported during the first six months of this year, including shipments to Canada, he asserted, and this amount had not, therefore, materially reduced the stocks here, with a production for the period estimated at 255,000,000 tons.

DAKOTA FARMERS MADE PEACE WITH I. W. W., SAYS MRS. O'HARE

Woman Known in State Expounds Views Now as Staff Writer for Socialist Organ—Speaks of League Organization

Mrs. Kate Richards O'Hare, convicted in Bismarck for making a disloyal speech during the war and recently released from the federal prison, is now featured as a "staff writer" of the Appeal to Reason, radical socialist organ.

Mrs. O'Hare is devoting considerable of her time to a discussion of the Nonpartisan league. An interesting feature of her latest article is the claim that the league farmers of the northwest made peace with the I. W. W.'s to get their crops harvested shortly after the league was organized. The following is an extract from her article:

"Just previous to the war came that great revolt of the farmers which gave birth to the Nonpartisan league with its politically and economic program so dangerous to the capitalist interests of the Northwest. I think I was the very first person who ever tried to carry to the Eastern wage workers and the Southern cotton farmers the thrilling story of the uprising of the Northwest farmers."

"In the spring of 1917 something happened that struck terror to the hearts of the industrial pirates of the Pacific coast. The I. W. W. was swiftly organizing the underdogs of the industrial world into one big union, and the Nonpartisan league was organizing the plundered farmers, both politically and economically. As the harvest time neared that summer the league farmers made terms with the Wobblies to harvest their wheat, and as the harvest progressed it was demonstrated that the despised I. W. W.'s were fulfilling their "gentlemen's" contract with the league to the letter and proving themselves the most loyal and dependable employees of men who treated them as human beings. The principal weapon used by the capitalists against the I. W. W. was slander, and the claim that they were criminal, lazy and unfit as workers and the experience of the league farmers branded this as absolutely untrue.

"So many people have marveled that I should have traveled all over the country telling the truth, as I saw it, about war and profits, unmolested, until I landed in a little unknown town in the northwest, and there to have been 'framed,' arrested, tried, convicted, and sent to prison. I was simply more dangerous to the capitalists, the war profiteers and the Democratic party in the northwest than in any other section of the United States."

STATE CLINIC ANNUALLY NEW MEDICAL PLAN

Executive Committee is Named to Consider Organization of Proposed Clinic

The North Dakota State representatives of the American College of Surgeons met at Fargo Thursday to consider plans for the organization of a State Clinical meeting to be held in North Dakota some time during the current year.

The following executive committee was elected to have charge of the forthcoming meeting:

Chairman, E. P. Quinn, Bismarck; secretary, N. O. Ramstad, Bismarck; counselor, J. W. Brown, Dickinson.

This meeting is for the purpose of arranging instructional clinics to be held annually. It is intended to reserve one of the afternoon sessions for the laity, where a speaker of note will present some of the important medical topics of the day. The evenings are to be devoted to discussions of scientific problems of surgery. This will bring to the state a new type of medical meeting one in which the layman has a part. The education of the public as to their right to receive expert surgical care can come none too soon.

The American College of Surgeons is a fellowship of over four thousand surgeons in the United States and Canada, pledged to give the highest type of surgery to every man, woman and child in need of it. The College has fostered the standardization of hospitals and maintains a staff of representatives in the field visiting hospitals in all parts of the United States and Canada.

Following are the North Dakota State representatives of the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons:

AGED RESIDENT OF CITY DIED THIS MORNING

John Roether Succumbs to Illness Extending Over Several Months

John Roether, 314 Eleventh street, died at his home here at 3 o'clock this morning. Mr. Roether was 65 years old and has not been in good health for the last six months. His death was sudden, but not entirely unexpected.

Mr. Roether was born on April 10, 1852, in Russia. He came to this country nine years ago, coming to Bismarck at that time. He has been an industrious citizen, a good father, and loved his home as few men do.

His widow, Mrs. Margaret Roether, survives to mourn his death. Five children, Eva, Catherine, Margaret, Peter and John are living in this vicinity.

Catherine, Peter, and John are living in Bismarck, while the two married daughters, Mrs. Anton Lockert, and Mrs. John Schmidt live at Dickinson.

Mr. Roether has a brother, Joe, living at Dickinson, and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Guston, of Flasher.

The funeral will be held at St. Mary's church at 9 a. m. on Wednesday. Father Hiltner will have charge of the services. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

The office reports that the demand for labor is increasing with the approach of the harvest and about 40 men will be needed in the county within the next 10 days.

The harvest will be in full swing in two or three days, according to G. W. Gustafson, county agent. Quite a little of the marquis wheat has already been cut, as well as some of the early macaroni.

In 1917, there were 161,926 persons in the United States, or less than two-tenths of one per cent. of the population, who reported incomes of over $10,000.

AUGUST BATHING GIRLS WILL FAVOR WOOLEN BLANKETS AND FEATHERS

Woolen cape and beach parasol adorned with pheasant feathers protect from wind and sun.

By CORA MOORE,
New York's Fashion Authority
New York, August 2.—Not all the new bathing costumes are demure. Although there is, on the whole, a prevailing air of unusual dignity about them, there are occasional striking effects to add to the gaiety of the beach crowds.

Many of the new sunshades especially are unique. Tent-shaped, oblong, square and triangular ones vie with the usual Japanese and pagoda styles. After that there are weird methods of decoration. Feathers are playing an important role in feminine belongings just as they did in less civilized days. Here in a beach parasol of apricot silk which a Paramount-Artcraft star is carrying, is an interesting example.

From a center of tufted wool sprout a few short, pheasant feathers. Then from underneath the tuft radiate long, graceful feathers that over-reach the edge and curl around it.

It is as fascinating as it is "different," and a fitting accompaniment to the comfortable looking cape of tan and white wool in black pattern. The cape is trimmed with fringe and tassels of brown wool with the edges buttonholed also in brown.

PRESENCE OF MIND SHOWN BY WOMAN HIGHLY PRAISED

Mrs. M. C. Schoelkopf is Boomed for Appointment as Fire Chief as Result of Rescue of Men

Friends of Mrs. M. C. Schoelkopf of Person Court, are quietly starting a boom today for her appointment as fire chief in case of a vacancy. This is due to the heroism and technical ability which she displayed in the fire in the Fifth street apartment house Saturday.

Smoke was discovered during the noon hour seeping through the building. The residents looked in their closets and their kitchens without unearthing any blaze. Finally they discovered the gray clouds shooting out from the janitor's room which was locked.

Three big heavy men threw themselves against the door while the women screamed and rushed back to their apartments to rescue what furniture they could. That all the women did—except Mrs. Schoelkopf, the well-known Bismarck singer, who watched the men throwing themselves against the door for a few seconds and then calmly recalled scenes she had seen in the "World's Greatest" movie successes and stroled towards the furnace room and found there a pickaxe.

She came back and while the men stepped aside she vigorously chopped a hole in the door and like the oldest inhabitant of a fire station uncoiled the hose from the wall and successfully damped the greed of the little red tongues of flame so that before the fire department had arrived they had decided that the odds were too great and had thrown up the sponge.

PUNISHED FOR KINDLY DEED

English Magistrates Seem to Have Dealt Harshly With Man Who "Broke" the Sabbath.

John Paul is an English publication. The letter we are reproducing from its columns was written to the magistrates of the English town of Reading. One wonders if they ever heard of the distinction between the letter and the spirit of the law, remarks Our Daily Animals.

"Your Worship: I gather you don't go to church on Sundays as a regular thing. Let me tell you why I regular. On a Sunday during the strike a policeman dug up the Sunday observance not in order to convict a poor devil of a driver—Charles Palmer, to wit—of driving cattle through the streets. The man had fetched the beasts from the railway station, where they had arrived from Dublin. They were there in a bad state. If they had not been removed to be fed and watered they would have been the victims of endless cruelty; and though on this particular Sunday that which is written, 'Which of you shall have an ass or an ox fall into a pit and will not straightway pull him out on the Sabbath day' was part of the gospel, you made the driver pay the costs of his prosecution. To all intent and purpose, therefore, gentlemen, you might as well have convicted and fined him. What a pity it is that the act of 1677 doesn't prohibit Reading magistrates from walking or driving through the streets on Sunday in order to catch their dinner."

VOLCANOES AWAKE TO LIFE

Mount Katmai, in Alaska, especially, shows signs of preparation for destructive outburst.

Affording an awe-compelling spectacle of nature in a sullen mood and awakening memories of the ghastly deaths of the eruption of eight years ago, Mount Katmai, most powerful and restless of North American volcanoes, is again in violent activity, according to Capt. Charles A. Glasscock and Purser Gary Bach of the steamer Admiral Watson, which reached port recently from southwestern Alaska, says the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

A sable pall of smoke from the funnel of the belching crater broods over the northern sky for a radius of 40 or 50 miles by day, while fretful tongues of flame can be seen by vessels a score of miles at sea at night, according to the Seattle mariners.

Kitchik's peak, a neighboring volcano, has also been stirred to spectacular efforts by the outburst of its more demure companion, and wreaths of smoke hang over numerous peaks of the rugged Alaska peninsula.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE MARRIED WITH BEAUTIFUL CEREMONIES AT ELK'S HALL ON SUNDAY EVENING

The Elks' hall was the scene of an unusually pretty wedding last evening when Morris Rigler, of Flasher, and Miss Jeanette Jampolsky, of Merricourt, S. D., were united in marriage.

Saul Jampolsky, as best man, led the procession, followed by Morris Rigler, the groom, and patron Frank Rigler and Leo Jampolsky. Miss Jampolsky came next as maid of honor.

Little Moisha Jampolsky acted as ring bearer, bringing the ring on a satin pillow. The little flower children Sylvia Snolowitz and Burnia Rigler, strewed the path with flowers for the bride, who followed. She was attended by Mrs. Leo Jampolsky and Mrs. Frank Rigler. The bridesmaids came next and were Misses Paula Rigler, Bertha Rigler, Rebecca Eisenberg, Lillian Rigler, Ruth Halpern and Gertrude Tilsen. The ushers were Herman Tilsen, Adolph Rigler, Arthur Rigler, Samuel Rigler, Saul Halpern and Irving Rappaport.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Rabbi H. Eisenberg, of Bismarck.

After this came a grand march, led by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Segall, who also had charge of the musical program of the evening.

A beautiful dinner was served to the assembled guests and a reception followed at the Elks' hall. Later

In the evening a dance was held, music being furnished by Abbey's Syncopated orchestra who are playing at Elm park.

Morris Rigler, the groom is well known in this vicinity as a successful young merchant.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Yetta Jampolsky. Her home was formerly in North Dakota and she has many friends in this section.

Among the guests attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Morris Rappaport and daughter, of Glenn Hillin; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Jampolsky and family, of Merricourt, S. D.; Saul Jampolsky, of Merricourt, S. D.; Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Rigler and family, of Richardson; S. B. # THREE-YEAR-OLD BOY SUCCUMBS TO YEAR'S ILLNESS

Raymond Wingate, Son of John Wingate, Dies at Home Here

Raymond Wingate, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wingate, 202 Eighth street, died Saturday afternoon about 3 o'clock, after a long illness of nearly a year.

The mother, Mrs. John Wingate, will be remembered as the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Maasen, 206 Eighth street.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. Mary's church. Father Hiltner officiating. Burial took place later in St. Mary's cemetery.

Raymond was the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wingate, and had a brother, Joseph Wingate, a few years older. He has been a patient sufferer during the last few months, courageously bearing the suffering inflicted on him at such an early age.

Among the relatives who will miss the little boy are: Father, M. J. Simmons, of Oriska, N. D.; Rose G. Maason, of Seattle; Mae Maason, St. Alexis hospital; John Maason, of Fargo; Paul Maasen, Bismarck; and Carl Maason, of Bismarck.

Miss Rebecca B. Defender, of Pollock, S. D., died here on Sunday. Miss Pollock was a young woman about 25 years old, her family living at Pollock.

The body was cared for at Perry's undertaking parlors and was sent to her home this morning.

It is a hard problem these hot days to know what to eat and when you get home to do the cooking there is nothing that you can think of that you have not had before.

I will tell you what let's do to get away from all this bother and that is go to the Annex Cafe where you can get real home cooking and have a large variety on the bill of fare to select from, and the cost and bother of preparing our own meals will cost us more than we can save, for the Annex Cafe prices are so reasonably low.

When I am down town I am going in to the Annex Cafe and eat my noon lunch instead of bothering with cooking at home and in this way I am saving myself from all the hot and hard work connected with preparing a meal

POLITICAL SLOGANS

"Peace, Progress and Prosperity," is the alliterative slogan of the Democratic party. Everybody is for these. Leave it to the Democrats when it comes to promises. It was just four years ago that we had, "He Kept Us Out of War," just as today he has kept us out of peace. The political hurdy gurdy has officially started with the adoption of a slogan.

It is going to be hard for the Republicans to pack more promised joy into three words. They will space well on the billboards and may catch a few suckers who believe all that emanates from the superheated atmosphere of political headquarters.

INJURING THEIR CAUSE

Advocates of prohibition are merely injuring the cause of temperance by placing a presidential candidate in the field. The adoption of the federal dry amendment was accepted not as a political issue, but because a majority of the people in all parties realized that it was a wise economic expedient and would tend at any rate to improve the moral status of the nation.

There is bitter division over the liquor question. It has never been a strictly partisan issue. There have been and are now wet and dry groups in each of the dominant parties, but these factions are no longer all powerful. It is impossible to win national campaigns by using "booze" as a bait.

If the advocates of prohibition who are now running a candidate upon the issue of strict enforcement of the eighteenth amendment had worked for their principles through either of the dominant parties, they would have greater chances of success.

The eighteenth amendment is the law of the land and until changed again by a referendum or modified through congressional action, the prohibitionists have no vital issue. By proposing a candidate they are merely prejudicing their own cause. They are really doing what the advocates of "booze," beer and light wines desire—to keep the issue active in hope that the present status will be overturned and a way opened to the return of former times.

Senator Harding has pledged himself to a strict observance of the eighteenth amendment. His oath of office imposes upon him the solemn duty of enforcing the laws against the sale of liquor. This should satisfy reasonable men, but the dry zealots are arrogantly demanding that "booze" be the major issue after the nation has disposed of it unequivocally in the adoption of the dry amendment.

The Republican presidential candidate gives prohibition the proper emphasis in his speech of acceptance. By agitating the issue continually, the prohibitionists merely injure their cause.

While the vote cast for the presidential candidate of the revived prohibition party will not be a test as to the nation's convictions on the temperance issue, the showing made by the dries will be used with telling effect in some quarters by the agents of the liquor interests.

A REAL FORCE

Acceptance speeches of vice-presidential candidates usually create but scant and passing attention. The second place on the ticket has served usually to gratify sectional pride. Necessity of having the ticket well balanced geographically has frequently dictated the nominations for this office. What such a vice-presidential candidate says or thinks has been of no great national concern. He is supposed to perform a certain function, but under no condition to formulate policies or be more than the rules of senate procedure direct.

The old order of things has changed. In Calvin Coolidge, the Republican party has a candidate for vice-president who shatters political tradition. He is going to be a real force at Washington if elected. There is a new significance in the nomination of this sturdy Yankee as the running mate of Senator Warren G. Harding.

His acceptance speech merely emphasis a worth already proved. Coolidge is a man of political parts. He is a governor of exceptional ability and brings to the vice-presidency elements of leadership rarely found in candidates proposed for that office. Senator Harding proposes to use Coolidge's ability if elected. He will be a member of the official circle in the White House and a frequent adviser at cabinet meetings.

No one can read Coolidge's speech of acceptance without sensing the fibre and measure of the man. He emphasizes the weakness of the Democratic administration and with a brevity almost unmatched in American politics states the issues of the campaign and lays down the steps that must be taken to save this nation from "all the reactions of war."

The national problem that confronts the voters in this presidential campaign have been summed up no better anywhere than in this: "The greatest need of the nation at the present time is to be rescued from all the reactions of the war. The chief task that lies before us is to repossess the people of their government and their property. We want to return to a thorough peace basis because that is the fundamental American basis. Unless the government and property of the nation are in the hands of the people, and there to stay as their permanent abiding place, self-government ends and the hope of America goes down in ruins."

North Dakota will be interested in his analysis of representative government:

"Either the people must own the government or the government will own the people. To sustain a government of the people there must be maintained a property of the people. There can be no political independence without economic independence."

To a tax wearied nation this should bring relief: "The most obvious place to begin retrenchment is by eliminating the extravagance of the government itself. * * * The extravagant standards bred of recent years must be eliminated. This should show immediately in reduced taxation. That great breeder of public and private extravagance, the excess profits tax, should be revised and recourse had to customs taxes on imports, one of the most wholesome of all means of raising revenue, for it is voluntary in effect, and taxes consumption rather than production. It should be laid according to the needs of a creditor nation, for the protection of the public, with a purpose to render us both economically and defensively independent."

"A revision of taxation must be accompanied with a reduction of that private extravagance which the returns from luxury taxes reveal as surpassing all comprehension. Waiving the moral effect, the economic effect of such extravagance is to withdraw needed capital and labor from essential industries, greatly increasing the public distress and unrest."

"There has been profiteering. It should be punished because it is wrong. But it is idle to look to such action for relief. This class profit by scarcity, but they do not cause it."

"As every one knows now, the difficulty is caused by a scarcity of material, an abundance of money and insufficient production. The government must reduce the amount of money as fast as it can without curtailing necessary credits. Production must be increased."

Those political charlatans who have been promising a Utopia through legislation are properly rebuked in this:

"There has been a great deal of misconception as to what was won by the victory in France. That victory will not be found to be a substitute for further human effort and endeavor. It did not create magic resources out of which wages could be paid that were not earned profits be made without corresponding service. It did not overcome any natural law. It did conquer an artificial thralldom sought to be imposed on mankind and did establish for all the earth a new freedom and a larger liberty. But that does not, cannot, mean less responsibility. It means more responsibility, and until the people of this nation understand and accept this increased responsibility and meet it with increased effort there will be no relief from the present economic burdens."

BRITAIN "COMING BACK"

The speed with which Britain, in the face of disheartening conditions, is getting its house in order is impressive. The British government is not wasting any time bemoaning its awful debt. It is facing the realities and coming directly to hand grips with its unpleasant problems. The taxes are appalling but progress is being made. At the expiration of 1921 Mr. Chamberlain expects that Britain will have a surplus of roughly one billion dollars. Of this, $360,000,000 will be applied upon the floating debt. At the end of 1922, the Chancellor expects to have a surplus of a billion and a half dollars. Of this about $750,000 will be applied upon the floating debt.

The present financial program to which Britain has committed itself will automatically cancel the floating debt in seven years. The colossal British debt itself will be wiped out in 43 years.

It is possible of course that this program may not be fulfilled, or that it may not run strictly according to schedule. Wars may intervene. Unpredictable catastrophes must be allowed for. But the framing of the program nevertheless reveals a fine and plucky spirit, and, up to date, it is worth noting, the results have been justifying the expectations. Fifteen million dollars in Treasury Bills, held in New York, have already been taken up. The Anglo-French loan, due next October, is, at this time, to be redeemed in full.

Britain finds it necessary to impose savage taxes in order to meet the program she has imposed upon herself. Yet the British people are taking their medicine. They grumble of course—characteristically—but they are taking the line. Britain never showed to better advantage, never revealed her native sand and grit more unmistakably, than she is doing now in these hard, unromantic, post-war days. She is determined to pay her bills and pay them quickly. Anyone who thinks Britain is not a solvent empire does not know Britain.—Minneapolis Tribune.

HEALTH ADVICE

BY UNCLE SAM, M. D.

Health Questions Will Be Answered If Sent to Information Bureau, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C.

FOR THE CHILDREN.

As the people come to realize that play and recreation contribute enormously to the promotion of health, the demand for proper playgrounds is everywhere becoming greater. It is clear that our boys and girls must have some place to play. Shall we be content to let them play in the street, or on the railroad track? In tenement homes in our large cities shall we let them fly kites from the roof?

Popular sentiment is becoming crystallized and the people are demanding that the community make some provision for the safety of the boys and girls during their leisure hours. Most of our cities are now appropriating funds each year for the establishment and maintenance of supervised public playgrounds and recreation centers. This sentiment is spreading rapidly and it is hoped that in the not far distant future every community will have an organization to provide play and recreation facilities for all its people.

The people of this city, like those of other cities throughout the country, have grave responsibilities in thus providing for play and recreation. Let us hope that they will rise to this opportunity, and that they will be enthused by the vision of good they can do. They will see sickness reduced, crime prevented, the sum total of human happiness enormously increased, and a great step forward taken to promote the nation's strength and welfare.

ANSWERED.

Q. Can you tell me if there is any drug or medicine known that can be used to loosen one's teeth so they can be pulled out with the fingers? I should have mine out to regain my health, and have had one or two extracted, but this process has upset my nerves so I cannot bear the thought of a dentist's chair. I have taken gas on two occasions, and the experience had put the finish on my whole nervous system.

A. So far as I know there is no drug which could safely be used in the way you suggest, so that the teeth could be pulled out with the fingers. The extraction of teeth under local anesthesia, especially according to the newer methods of administering this anesthesia, has been so well developed that competent dentists now make really painless extractions, without any shock to the nervous system. It is suggested that you discuss this matter with your dentist, and perhaps have him refer you to some extraction specialist.

Q. A young lady friend is much concerned over the growth of hair on her upper lip and side of her face. Can you tell me what to do? Is pumice stone a good remedy?

A. The growth of hair on the face of a young woman always presents a very difficult problem, especially when the growth is at all profuse. To remove the visible growth by means of pumice is practically the same as to remove it by shaving or by means of chemicals and so-called depilatories. None of these methods remove the growth permanently. Permanent removal can be effected only by measures which destroy the root of the hair. Such destruction can be effected only by the individual treatment of each hair root. Skilled dermatologists can do this by means of an electric needle, the so-called electrolytic method. The procedure is rather painful and requires considerable time, because a few hairs say 10 to 20, can usually be dealt with at one sitting and the operation must be entrusted only to an experienced operator. It is suggested that your friend discuss the matter with her family physician, and have him refer her to an experienced dermatologist.

AS IT LOOKS TO ME

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—Control of the United States senate by the Republicans depends on the disposition of the Newberry case and the possible election of some independent senators in the fall's campaign. Three votes in the Senate would upset the Republican majority.

Newberry was convicted of illegal use of money in the Michigan senatorial campaign. It is up to the senate committee on privileges and elections to say whether his seat is to be vacated. Also to say whether the vacancy, if so vacated, is to be filled by a special election in Michigan or whether it is to be filled by seating Henry Ford, who, on the face of the returns, had a few votes less than Newberry and might be presumed to have been elected.

Like his cousin of opposite political faith who preceded him as assistant secretary of navy and as candidate for vice president, Franklin D. Roosevelt, running-mate with Jimmy Cox on the Democratic national ticket, is not a believer in race suicide.

T. R. was the father of five children—one girl and four boys—and strenuously advocated large families for others. Franklin D. is likewise the father of five—also one girl and four boys. Whether the parallel in political preference is to continue, remains with the voters in November to decide.

BUENOS AIRES STUDENTS TO COME TO N. D.

Exchange With South American University Has Been Arranged

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 2.—Dr. H. R. Brush, head of the romance language department of the University of North Dakota Saturday received word from the University of Buenos Aires to the effect that two students from that institution will be transferred to the North Dakota institution to complete their education, and two students from the Flickertail university will be invited to complete their courses at Buenos Aires.

In 1917 Dr. Brush, anxious to get some students from South America to strengthen the Spanish department at the university, took steps to bring students to the North Dakota university. It was impossible to do anything at that time, but early last spring he conferred with the Argentine ambassador at Washington, who replied that he would endeavor to work out an exchange scheme.

Saturday Dr. Brush was notified by E. Lobos, rector of the Buenos Aires university, that the "Faculty of Economic Sciences" had resolved that "two students of this faculty having the degree of national public accountants who have distinguished themselves in their work and speak English, will be transferred to continue their studies at the University of North Dakota."

The Buenos Aires faculty is to pay their traveling expenses, while the North Dakota university is to provide funds for the continuation of their studies here. The Buenos Aires faculty had to set aside a sum for the support of two North Dakota students enrolled in the commercial courses. It is likely that nothing definite regarding exchanging students will be done until next year.

SHERIFF SENT TO PRISON FOR LIQUOR FRAUDS

Minneapolis, Aug. 2.—Oscar Martinson, formerly sheriff of Hennepin county, was sentenced to two years in federal penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Mike Weisman and Sam Goldberg to one year and six months imprisonment, and $5,000 fine each; Frank Hark and David Poskus to a year and a day imprisonment each, and Harry Swans to pay a fine of $4,000.

Sentences were imposed by United States District Judge Page Morris on the six men who had pleaded guilty in the Winnipeg-Minneapolis whiskey conspiracy, in which originally 13 men were indicted. Four of the other cases were dismissed by the government and the remaining three will be disposed of in October.

Martinson Consoles Wife.
Despite his physical condition, when Oscar Martinson received sentence, he bore up very well. His wife, who had been shocked by the sentence, fell into his arms and he was attempting to console her.

Howard Guilford came over to the former sheriff and attempted to place his hand on Martinson's shoulder. "Get away from me; don't touch me," fairly shouted Martinson. Guilford stepped back and disappeared in the crowd that thronged the little court room.

EUROPEANS ARE FORCING WHEAT DOWN, IS CLAIM

Land Bank Head Hurls Defiance. Speculators in Speech at Minot

Minot, N. D., Aug. 2. Declaring that the North Dakota wheat crop would not aggregate over 70,000,000 bushels and that the crop of the entire northwest would not total over 100,000,000 bushels, E. J. Quamme, president of the Federal Land bank, St. Paul, hurled defiance at the speculators who have forced the price of wheat down the past few days.

"The market is being forced down by European buyers who are here to purchase vast quantities of grain," he said. "There are trying times ahead, and unless the United States watches out it may be necessary to recall Herbert Hoover to ration out how feed."

Mr. Quamme is making a tour of the northwest with the St. Paul merchants booster party. He is in close touch with the agriculture situation in the northwest.

The success of Bowman county in dairy products was pointed out as indicative of the possibilities of breaking away from grain raising. Mr. Quamme declared that when the people of northwestern North Dakota got into cattle raising they would develop into a much larger city.

He said that foreign buyers were responsible for forcing down the prices and cited the example of Argentina and how they had protected themselves by placing an export tax on grain.

Be There

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

CARLOS MARTIN in his biography of Wendell Phillips said this: "It is not enough to be ready to go where duty calls; a man should stand around where he can hear the call."

Be There.

A few years ago at a great American political convention, one of those mysterious moments arrived, in which a great outburst broke in enthusiasm for one man. But the man was Not There; at that moment he was entertaining friends in one of the city's hotels. Before he could be reached, a comparatively unknown man was called upon and, through the magnetism of the moment, he was inspired into one of the greatest efforts of his life—and it swept him into the United States senate, where he has proved himself one of the great leaders of the country.

Be There.

When you make an appointment. Be There. When you agree to do a certain task. Be There. If you are looking toward an Opportunity. Be There when the Opportunity comes your way. The Leaders in the business world, and in every other sphere of activity, are constantly alert for men and women who can measure up to Chances that they hold in the hollow of their hands. You, whoever you are, and wherever you work, if you are conforming constantly to your ideals of the best, you need have no fear but that at the proper moment you will be the one who is—There.

Be There.

TO MAKE MORE INTERNATIONAL MOTOR TRUCKS

Harvester Company Building Largest Motor Truck Plant in Country

NOW BUILDING 1,000 HOMES

Information received today by the Lahr Motor Sales Company, distributors of International Trucks in this territory, announces that the International Motor Truck, which has increased its sales volume fifteen hundred per cent since 1914, is to be put into mass production. The Harvester Company officials have just secured a site for the erection of the largest motor truck plant in the world to provide their truck with manufacturing facilities more in keeping with American and world demand.

Cyrus McCormick, Jr., works manager, who will have charge of the construction, equipment, and operation of this new development, says:

"The site of the new plant, which will be in addition to Akron works, is situated at Fort Wayne, Indiana about three and a half hours ride from Chicago and on the N. Y. C. & St. L. Wabash, Pennsylvania, New York Central, and Ohio Electric railroads. The facilities for International Motor Truck manufacture and distribution were inaugurated in twenty-eight industrial centers in the United States before the Fort Wayne site was selected in order to find the very best base for International Motor Truck extension. In a word, Fort Wayne was selected for its strategic situation with respect to the delivery of raw materials from the company's mining and lumber and steel producing properties and from available sources of purchase and with respect to the quick and facile distribution of the finished product."

"Fort Wayne's position is favorable geographically and its railroads and their connections are the most completely supplied with that special equipment which is needed for delivering International Motor Trucks to the Company's dealers and distributors the country over and to the 107 International Harvester branch houses in the United States and Canada."

"Best of all, the spirit of Ft. Wayne and the co-operation of her people and organizations are most favorable to the development of Motor Truck plant in the world. A truly great factory must consist not only of adequate buildings and equipment, employees and pay roll, but must furnish also a proper environment of homes, institutions and people."

Building Homes.

"That special study was given this often overlooked fact is shown by the carefully developed arrangement between the Harvester Company and the Ft. Wayne Chamber of Commerce for the completion, as the first quota, of 1,000 new homes for International Harvester men and their families. These homes will not be concentrated in an industrial home center but will be distributed among a number of attractive suburbs. The plan is that these groups of homes in their various locations will each become the nucleus of a suburban community which will attract in a normal way residents from various walks of life and such commercial facilities as are normally needed in the life of a residence community. The houses will not be constructed along lines of monotonous regularity, but will be diversified to plan and style of architecture. As a safety measure, all plans must be approved both by the company and the Ft. Wayne organization which has the construction in charge. The homes will be sold to employees at actual cost, plus ten per cent on the amount of investment."

"This elaborate program was entered upon and its vast detail mastered in the belief that a well-housed employee is a happy workman and that happy workmen are the ones who build the nation's master products. Workmanship of the quality and perfection necessary to maintain the standards of International Motor Truck manufacture is incompatible with anything but the most comfortable and wholesome conditions of home life."

James J. Hill, railroad magnate, predicted an ironless age by 1950.

Cleveland Girl Makes Good in Comparatively New Business Enterprise for Women

TELLS HOW SHE DID IT

Cleveland, O., Aug. 2. "The best real estate saleswoman in town," is the title by which Miss Charlotte V. Cudney of Cleveland, is known. She sells a 30,000-foot factory site as easily and gracefully as a six-room bungalow.

There is nothing mannish about this charming young woman, who has been in business for herself for almost two years, and has made a success of what is a comparatively new profession for women. She was one of the pioneers, and when she strayed from the beaten path of stereotyped professions for women, heads were wagged and men were skeptical as to what a girl would do in the real estate business. Now she is one of the acknowledged leaders in the local field.

"Women are admirably fitted for real estate work," says Miss Cudney, "because they know what a woman wants and needs in a home. The housewife will notice the wall space, convenience of closets and locations of cupboards, whereas a man is concerned with the basement, the construction of the furnace, and pays no attention to small but important details."

It isn't so much salesmanship, that is required in real estate business, she contends, as the knack of fitting houses to people.

"Most people know what they want. It's our business to give it to them. If a client desires a house with four bedrooms, it is a waste of time and temper to show one to him with three or perhaps six."

Miss Cudney is specializing in the house-selling end of real estate. In her opinion, women will eventually dominate that part of the game.

Her recipe for success is hard work every minute of the day and stick-to-it-iveness. Tact, not nerve, she says is required, and above all, perfect fairness and honesty with people.

"Give people the right things and they will boost you," is her slogan.

Miss Cudney thinks there should be more women architects. If there were, it would be easier to sell real estate, she asserts. Many a sale has been lost because of the poor arrangement of electric lights, or badly planned wall space.

"A woman knows so much better what another woman wants in her home," Miss Cudney said. "A woman architect would never put a radiator in a large wall space, thus ruining it—the way men seem to have a perfect mania for doing—when it would better fit under the window."

Some day I hope to get into the building end of real estate myself," Miss Cudney laughed, and I shall be very particular about the radiators, and closets and all the practical, livable things. But that doesn't mean I shan't build artistic houses that will appeal to people generally."

Miss Cudney's dream is to, some day build houses as well as sell them.

ELECT DISTRICT FAIR OFFICERS

Port Yates, Aug. 2.—The Fort Yates district, as well as all other districts of the reservation elected district officers last Friday for the Standing Rock Fair, August 25, 26, 27. The officers elected for Fort Yates district were Charles Cronewell, president, Frank Goodland, secretary, Herbert Buttolph, treasurer, Albert Nohart and Frank Bullhead, members of the committee, and Leo Eagletail, in charge of officer's trip.

The various districts of the reservation will meet this week and elect general fair officers for the whole reservation.

Last year no local officers were elected here and it is believed that had such been done the fair would have been better. The personnel of the present local committee and officers insures a thorough cooperation on the part of Fort Yates district with the general fair officials.

What Saving Means. Conservation and thrift extended to the little things makes amazing totals in big undertakings. ## BIG BASEBALL FEAST IN STORE FOR LOCAL FANS

Valley City Comes Thursday and Friday; Wilton on Sunday

FORGET THE SUNDAY GAME

Fans are looking forward to three big ball games here—Valley City next Thursday and Friday and Wilton next Sunday.

There's a pretty good reason to be looking forward to the Wilton game next Sunday, because the game of yesterday isn't much to look back upon from a Bismarck standpoint. Five hundred local fans saw Wilton win, 6 to 3. Five cars on the Soo lines special train carried a crowd which was augmented by many auto parties.

You can't win the old game if you can't hit or field, or if you have to strike at everything within ten miles of the batter or have the umpire call it a strike.

Needham pitched his usual good game. Cunningham, Wilton pitcher, who is good, had 16 strike-outs, and a lot of them were called strikes. The umpire walked six men off Needham, who always has good control.

But aside from the umpiring there wasn't a lot to say for the local team's play. Needham was given listless support. While the Wilton team didn't make many hits, some of those that were chalked up ought to have been fielded.

Wilton made two runs in the first inning. There were two two-base clouts to help in this. In the fifth Wilton made two more and made the total of six in the next session. Bismarck made one in the first and in the ninth, after Franklyn walked. (Chicken smashed a homerun.

CAPITOL TEAM TAKES MOFFIT IN TOW, 11 TO 1

One Big Inning Helps Local Team in Sunday Game at Local Ball Park

The capital baseball team feels a little bit chummy today.

The team walloped Moffit, 11 to 1, in a game at capital park here yesterday afternoon. The game was scoreless until the fourth inning, when the capital made one run, broke loose, scoring 7 runs, and they scored one each in the next three innings. Moffit pushed one run across in the fourth.

Flow pitched a good game for the locals, and Luffus, shortstop, and Mullin, first base both played star games.

The crowd was disappointing, but the fans that did see the game enjoyed it, and more games probably will be scheduled between the two teams.

GIANT BOUGHT BY RED SOX

Boston, Aug. 2.—"Al" Clayton of Dayton, Ohio, who is six feet seven inches in height and weighs 215 pounds, has been added to the Red Sox pitching staff.

The young giant, who has been playing with a semi-professional team in his home city, was signed up by Ed Holley, scout of the Boston Americans, and reported to the team at Cleveland next Wednesday.

Clayton is 21 years old and has not lost a game in two years. It is reported. His most recent accomplishment was the winning of four games in one week. In throwing match a short time ago Clayton hurled a baseball 387 feet.

DE PALMA ENTERS
Chicago, August 2. The annual 25-mile automobile race over the highway Elgin, Ill., course will be decided on August 21 this year. Ralph De Palma, who led in the field in the Indianapolis 500 mile race this spring only to lose when his car caught fire, has entered the Elgin event. De Palma's car probably will be the only foreign entry in the race.

MIGHTY AND MIDGET ARE STARS ON OLYMPIC TEAM

Patasoni ran away from home to compete in the Olympic tryouts at Chicago, where he surprised the athletic world by lapping all his opponents in the long grind. He did not have enough money to buy a ticket home. It was supplied by Martin Delaney, Olympic coach. His medical showing at Boston was due to a faulty pair of shoes. His grit won him a place on the U. S. team.

BY LORRY A. JACOBS.

New York, Aug. 2.—It doesn't make any difference how little you are or how big, if you train your body as it should be and live a clean life, you've got a chance in athletic competition.

So says Matt McGrath, giant policeman, the largest member of the Olympic team that will represent America at Antwerp, and A. Patasoni, the tiny Indian long-distance runner, who is one of the star athletes of the team.

Bodies Are Perfect.
Both have beautiful bodies, although the discrepancy between their sizes is so great as to make comparison ludicrous. McGrath stands six feet two, weighs about 275 pounds, and is perfectly developed in every part of his body.

Patasoni is but 4 feet 11 inches tall, weighs 105 pounds. He has, however, muscles like steel, shoulders that are really massive for his stature, and extremely lithe and strong muscles.

Clean Living Counts.
And both ascribe their fitness for the Olympic games to clean living and conscientious training. Patasoni is a school product of the Haskell Indian institute, while McGrath first found his place in the Irish-American games.

McGrath is somewhere near the forty mark in age, while Patasoni is but twenty.

They Overcome Obstacles.
McGrath never had a sick day in his life, except from injuries sustained when he strained himself throwing the 56-pound weight.

Patasoni on the other hand, suffered from stomach trouble earlier in his life but gamely fought it off.

"If all men would take care of themselves properly and take the exercise they like best faithfully, there would be few weak and sick men in the country," says McGrath.

to retire from baseball. After relinquishing the management of the Terre Haute, Ind., club of the Three-I league, Brown was deluged with offers, but declined them. The Omaha club of the Western league wanted the former star of the Chicago Nationals as a relief pitcher and coach

MAJOR LEAGUES BEGIN BIGGEST FIGHT FOR TOP

Month of August to See Furious Struggle in Majors for Pennant Place

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Major league baseball teams start on the big month of the season today.

With several teams in striking distance of the lead in both the National and American leagues, the month will see a furious battle for a home field in the pennant race. Brooklyn took an awful slump during the last week, but with Saturday's games compiled Brooklyn was tied with Cincinnati for the leadership. The Red clan has refused to take the Dodgers' pennantward spirit seriously, and to show how they felt, the champs took three out of four games in the series. The Giants improved their position, now having the edge on Pittsburgh for third place. If McGraw's pitchers continue to improve as they have in the last week, the old fox may yet have his team in first place, and the Pirates are 89th in a fast pace.

In the American League Cleveland took a better hold on first base during the week by winning four straight from Boston. The New York Americans lost three out of five with the St. Louis Browns, and dropped 30 points behind Cleveland. The White Sox are lurking in the offing, but the rest of the American league teams don't seem to have much chance at the first run.

St. Paul continued her terrific pace in the American association, with Minneapolis in second and Indianapolis in third place.

ENGLISH GOLF PLAYERS WIN

Belmont, Mass., Aug. 2.—Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, British golf professionals, defeated Francis Quimet and Jesse Guilford, local amateurs, in a best ball match at the Belmont Spring Country club, 4 up and 2 to play. Ray's play was consistent throughout the 36, while Quimet was below his usual form. Vardon came through well when needed, but Guilford added little to the efforts of his partner. The best ball of the English players was 21 for the foursome round and 74 for the final round, while the Americans turned in 74 for the first 18 and 73 for the second 18. The individual scores were: Vardon 79-77, Ray 73-76, Quimet 75-74, Guilford 75-79.

BROWN TO RETIRE
Chicago, Aug. 2. Mordica Brown of three-fingered pitching fame plans

BOARDMAN MAKES GREAT RECORD

Charles Boardman, who is slated to pitch for Valley City against Bismarck here this week, knows something about tough luck.

Boardman pitched for Wahpeton a week ago in a game with Hankinson, which Hankinson won, 1 to 0.

Boardman has pitched 49 consecutive innings without being scored on up to the fourth inning of the game. Hankinson's only run of the game.

TAKE CHALLENGE FROM T. LIPTON

Sidney, N. S., Aug. 2.—Yacht clubs of Nova Scotia and not Sir Thomas Lipton will be the next challenger for the America's cup if yachtsmen of this province follow the recommendation made today by A. C. Cross of Montreal, from Victoria and North Cape Breston. Mr. Cross urged Nova Scotia clubs to combine, build a challenger and place a challenge in the hands of the New York Yacht club.

Introducing---
MINNEHAHA PALE and SPECIAL
(Light) (Dark)

A thoroughly fermented, aged, and finished product entirely free from fermentable sugars. It is a perfect barley and hop brew from which the alcohol only has been extracted.

Corn, rice, and sugar, known as raw materials are not used in the manufacture of our beverage. Our new de-alcoholizing equipment enables us to extract the alcohol without in any way impairing or disturbing the flavor, aroma, color, nourishment, and snap of the beverage.

This is the first and only introduction of this complete new one-operation method in the Northwest and the second in the United States. The result is a most palatable beverage which is the ideal drink both for hot and cold weather.

It can be consumed in quantities and leaves you bright and refreshed, and will never leave a distressed or heavy feeling.

When ordering insist on being served MINNEHAHA PALE or MINNEHAHA SPECIAL. You will be astonished when comparing this new product with any other cereal beverage, including our old beverage.

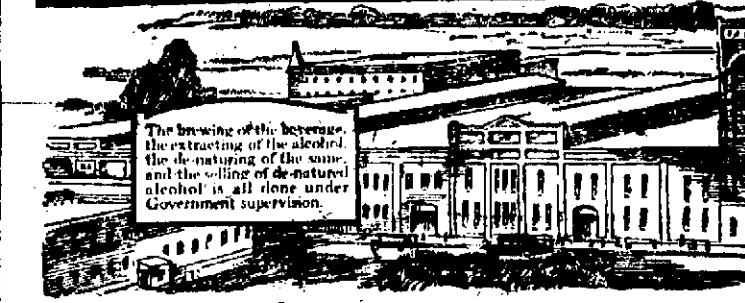

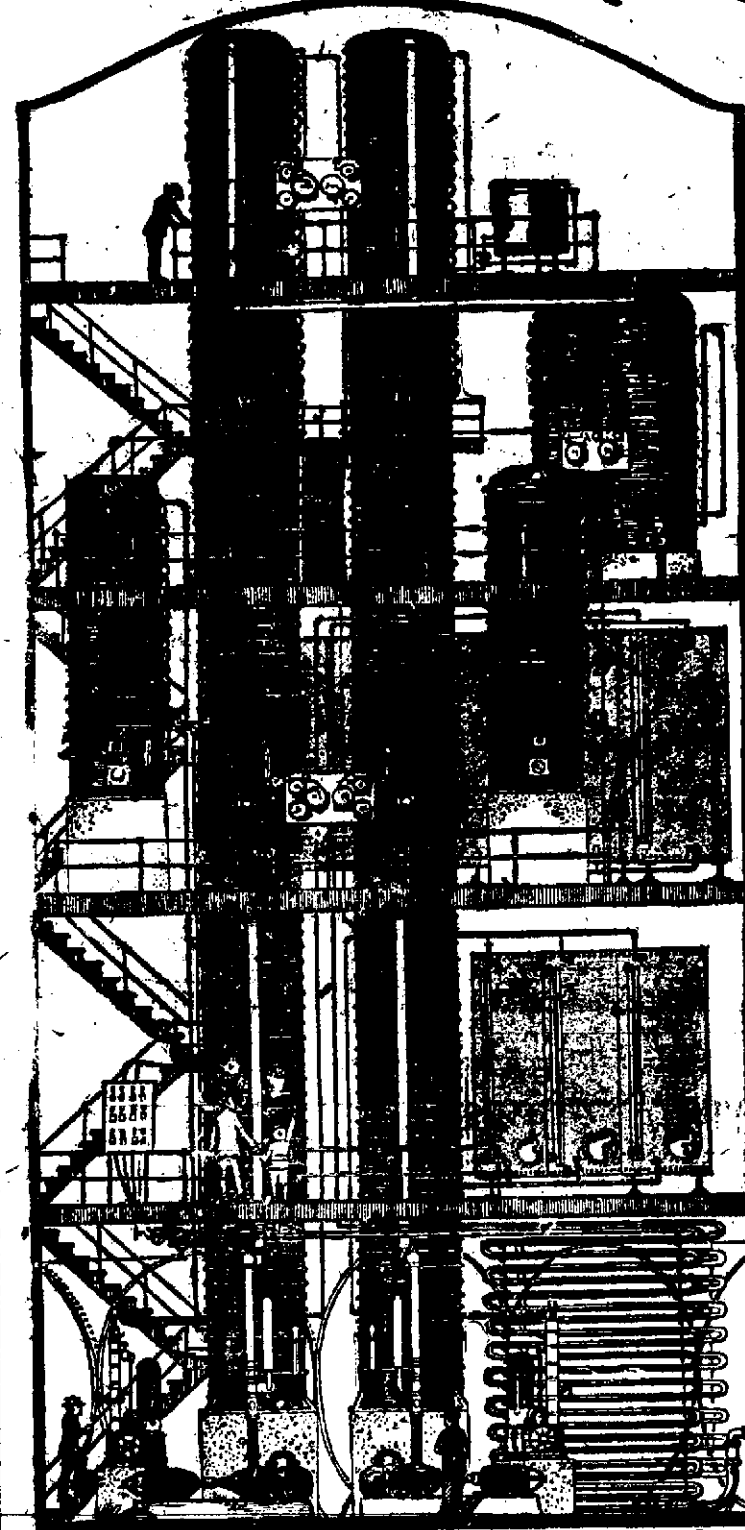

It contains more nourishment than the old brew, and its regular use will stimulate your appetite.

KILLDEER NAT'L PARK TO BE A REALITY SOON

Federal Official Has Gone Over Mountains and Will Make Favorable Report

GOES TO NEXT CONGRESS

Killdeer, Aug. 2.—Vernon Bailey, of the U. S. Biological Survey of the Department of Agriculture, accompanied by his wife, recently made a survey of the proposed Killdeer Mountains National Park. He was accompanied by A. A. Lieberbach, Killdeer and W. J. Richards of Dickinson, members of the park commission.

Mr. Bailey gathered samples of the berries, shrubbery and grasses. With his expert knowledge of animals he could tell by the kind of feed and forage just what species could exist and thrive there. He stated that the 8,000 acres included in the park area would support 2,000 animals, including buffalo, elk, deer, antelope, mountain sheep and gray and black squirrels, sage hens, porcupine and Chinese pheasants would thrive there. With the cold spring water flowing the dammed areas, there would be a wonderfully ideal home for brook trout, and in this regard he stated that it is a very erroneous idea that beavers eat trout. They do not touch them. Mr. Bailey's wife is a specialist in bird life and can tell by the song of the bird just what species it is.

Impressed by Beauty.
They were tremendously impressed with the entire scenery of our proposed park and were enthusiastic in their statements of recommendation. Mr. Bailey stated that the people were simply hungry those days to visit and look upon just such an unspoiled natural beauty spot as the Killdeer mountains region and that without question there should be at least 5,000 transcontinental tourists visiting there every year. It is different than any other park region in the United States. He had heard of it long before coming to Killdeer through the tourists and others who had been here and admitted that after seeing it himself, not enough had been said in its favor.

On account of the excellent description of the proposed park and the map thereof which has been compiled in book form and which includes actual photographs and historical data, much of the red tape is eliminated. It will even be unnecessary

Mr. Bailey stated to have sent out surveys. This will expedite the project immensely and the next session of Congress will doubtless see a National Park established in Dakota county.

TO TRY RANCHER ON MURDER PLEA

Dickinson, N. D., Aug. 2.—Frank Hickey, rancher in the Little Missouri country in Wyoming, who is charged with the murder of Lehan Wood, a former service man, will go on trial in district court the first Monday in October. He is being held in jail at Sundance, Wyoming, without bail.

Hickey is known throughout the Slope cattle circles as the foreman on the J. J. Shambaugh ranch near Miles City in 1917. An alleged statement by his wife charged him with the shooting. Mrs. Hickey has since denied the allegations made in the statement, according to M. Nichols, prosecuting attorney of Sundance.

According to the authorities, Hickey charged that Wood was too friendly to Mrs. Hickey. In the altercation that followed, Hickey is alleged to have shot Wood in the stomach and again in the back as he ran away. The body was thrown in a creek during the high water. The body was found 30 days later.

Wood was a brother-in-law of Hickey. His home address was Bowman.

DRYS RULED OFF OF MINN. BALLOT

St. Paul, Aug. 2.—Minnesota prohibitionists can vote for the party nominees for president only by stickers or by writing on their ballots the names of the Minnesota presidential electors. An opinion to that effect was given today by the attorney general's office to W. G. Calderwood, chairman of the executive committee of the prohibition organization in Minnesota.

The prohibition party can regain an official standing in Minnesota only by filing candidates for state offices by petition at the November election and obtaining for them the requisite number of votes cast according to the opinion.
